Tranſlation of the Anſwer returned by the Doge of Venice to his Excellency the Earl of Holderneſs.

My Lord Ambaſſador,

THIS ſolemn Day, wherein we have had the Pleaſure to receive in your ſo worthy Perſon the Extraordinary Ambaſſador of his Majeſty the King of Great Britain, will create a Remembrance of our Adminiſtration, as happy as it is moſt acceptable to this Republick to give and to receive viſible Proofs of an honourable Correſpondence with ſo great a King, and ſo illuſtrious a Crown. To this is to be added, that all the glorious Kings, Predeceſſors of his Majeſty, have worthily employed themſelves in cultivating this ancient mutual Friendſhip, which has been ſtill more firmly eſtabliſhed ſince the Reigning Electoral Family of Hanover has mounted the Royal Throne of England. In Fact the ſame his Majeſty's Anceſtors have been formerly pleaſed to ſend their valiant Troops as Auxiliaries to our Armies, even into Greece, and that under the Command of a Prince nearly allied to his Majeſty, who, through the moſt difficult warlike Undertakings, ſhewed himſelf a worthy Heir of the Name, the Blood, and the Glory of his ſo illuſtrious Progenitors.

But at preſent we have, to our great Satisfaction, received more plain and more authentick Arguments of his Majeſty's Benevolence, both from your acceptable Commiſſion, and from his Majeſty's Royal Letter, the Value of which is greatly raiſed by being ſigned with the Name of a King, who, reigning over the Minds and the Hearts of ſo noble, free and generous a Nation, employs all his Cares in augmenting the Luſtre of his great Crown, and the Happineſs of his Subjects: A Name which will be always memorable for the religious Faith with which he maintains the ſacred Engagements of his Alliances.

Advices ſo welcome to us, could not come by a more acceptable and more agreeable Conveyance than that of your Lordſhip, ſince, beſides the ſeveral hereditary Titles which illuſtrate your ancient and noble Deſcent, and beſides ſo many perſonal Virtues, which ſtill more illuſtrate your Deſcent and Titles, we ought to reflect, that your Lordſhip being ſent upon ſo honourable a Commiſſion from his Majeſty's own Preſence, we are to regard you, not only as the Interpreter, but alſo as a living Witneſs of the Sentiments of the King your Maſter.

All theſe are Arguments from which you may eaſily judge yourſelf, how great is the Eſteem, the cordial affectionate Obſervance, and the ſincere unalterable Friendſhip of our Republick towards his Majeſty; and we can aſſure you, that it will be the continual Study of the Senate, to tranſmit intire to their Poſterity theſe Maxims, which, through the Courſe of ſo many ſucceſſive Ages, we have inherited from our moſt remote Anceſtors.

Tranſlation of the Anſwer of the Senate of Venice to his Excellency the Earl of Holderneſs.

Feb. 24, 1744. in the Pregradi.

My Lord Ambaſſador,

EQUAL to the very high Value our Republick has always had for the Friendſhip of the Crown of Great-Britain, has been the Pleaſure with which ſhe has received a new and ſignal Teſtimony of it, by the Appointment of your Lordſhip in Quality of Ambaſſador Extraordinary of his Majeſty the King your Maſter.

The Aſſurances given by you in his Majeſty's Name of his Royal Benevolence, and authorized by the Sentiments ſet forth in the reſpected Letter you have delivered on his Part, are held by the Senate in that high Eſteem, which is ſuitable to the Grandeur of ſo great a Prince, whoſe eminent Talents and Virtues have advanced the Happineſs of his moſt flouriſhing Kingdoms beyond all the Memory of former Times.

As our Obligation to his Majeſty for acquainting us with his favourable Diſpoſition towards our Intereſt, is increaſed by his having choſen for ſo agreeable an Office, a Perſon of your Lordſhip's Reputation, illuſtrious Birth, and uncommon Qualifications; ſo it will be agreeable agreeable to us, if theſe our Sentiments may be laid before the King, and the ſincere Obſervance and Friendſhip which the Senate entertains for his Majeſty, be teſtified to him by your Lordſhip. And as you are his Majeſty's Repreſentative, you may aſſure yourſelf of being always well regarded and received, and that you will on all Occaſions meet with ample and manifeſt Proofs of the moſt diſtinguiſhed Conſideration and Affection on our Part.

From the Auſtrian Head Quarters at Valpring in Bavaria, March 28, N. S.

Upon the 21ſt of this Month the Troops under General Bathiani paſſed the Inn in three Columns at Paſſaw, Scharding, and Braunaw, and a Body of Huſſars was immediately detached towards Pfarkirchen, in order to cut off the Enemy's Garriſon there. Upon the 22d General Trips, who commanded this Corps, attacked the Enemy's Avant Guard near Trifflurn, and having killed ſome of their Huſſars, the reſt retired towards Pfarkirchen, in which Place there were about 600 Men, who at firſt made a very brisk Fire upon our People; but the Huſſars having attacked them Sword in Hand, they at laſt took to Flight. In this Rencounter we made four Officers and above 200 Men Priſoners of War. Upon the 24th we bombarded the Caſtle of Griesbach, the Garriſon of which quickly ſurrendred at Diſcretion. Soon after having received Advice, that the Enemy had abandoned Allſpach and Eggenfelden, General Bathiani advanced towards Vilſhoven, in which Place there are two entire Regiments of Heſſians, ſome Troops belonging to the Bavarian Corps, and ſome Huſſars, in all about 3000 Men. We have already inveſted the Town, and having made all the Diſpoſitions neceſſary for a formal Attack, we hope very ſoon to be Maſters of it. To-morrow General Bathiani ſets out for Vienna, and the Command of the Army will be left to Lieutenant-General Velt Marſhal Count Broune.

Munich, April 1, N. S. Yeſterday Morning an Expreſs arrived from Landſhut, with Advices from Marſhal Count Thoring, importing, that on Monday laſt the Auſtrians before Vilſhoven having ſent a Trumpet to M. de Schaffat, who commanded there for the Elector of Bavaria, demanding the Surrender of the Place, and that not being comply'd with, they began immediately to cannonade and bombard it; and that the City having thereby been ſet on Fire in ſeveral Places, whilſt the Garriſon was employed in extinguiſhing it, the Auſtrians had broken in, and cut to Pieces the greateſt Part of them, conſiſting of three Heſſian Battallions, one of which was Guards, and a great Detachment of the Bavarian Guards, in all near 1800 Men. We are every Minute expecting a more particular Account of this Action. What is above was related to Count Thoring, firſt by an Officer's Servant, and afterwards by a Heſſian Corporal, who had both made their Eſcape from Vilſhoven, after the Storming of it by the Auſtrians.

War-Office, April 1, 1745.

His Majeſty having ſignified his Pleaſure that all Deſerters from any of His Majeſty's Regiments of Horſe, Dragoons, Foot Guards, and Foot, now confined in any County Goal, Houſe of Correction, or other Place of Security, in Great Britain, for Deſertion, be immediately ſent for up to the Savoy, there to remain till further Orders.

It is His Majeſty's farther Pleaſure, that for the future, all Soldiers, (whether Horſe, Dragoons, or Foot) tryed, and found guilty of Diſobedience of Orders, in abſenting themſelves from their Duty and Quarters, without Leave, above ſix Days at one Time, ſhould, in like Manner, be immediately ſent up to the Savoy, in order to be draughted for Recruiting ſuch of his Majeſty's Regiments as now are or may be in the Weſt-Indies, Minorca, Gibraltar, or the Plantations.

And whereas ſeveral Soldiers may have deſerted from different Regiments, and may be at this Time again inliſted in other Corps in his Majeſty's Service,

His Majeſty is graciouſly pleaſed hereby to grant his Pardon to all ſuch Deſerters as aforeſaid, (excepting ſuch as are in actual Cuſtody for ſuch Offence) and likewiſe to declare, it is his Royal Intentions, that they ſhall continue in his Service, in the Regiment in which they now ſerve, without being moleſted, or reclaimed by the Officers of the reſpective Corps to which they did formerly belong.

His Majeſty is likewiſe pleaſed to grant his moſt gracious Pardon to all ſuch Deſerters as ſhall ſurrender themſelves to the reſpective Corps to which they belong, on or before the firſt Day of May next.

By His Majeſty's Command,
Will. Yonge.

General-Poſt-Office, October 19, 1744.

Publick Notice is hereby given, to all whom it may concern, That the Mail for Flanders, which uſed to go out from this Office upon Monday Night, will not go out till the Tueſday Night of every Week for the Time to come, or till Orders ſhall be given to the contrary.
